Bringing Meet the New You to Your Event

Meet the New You is a perfect message for any women's event. When Elisa speaks, she brings forth story-telling, a testimony of God's redemptive power, clear biblical teaching, and an invitation to encounter God afresh through a relationship with Jesus Christ. Every message will highlight the Trap & Transform Principle, which paints a picture of how to take captive every thought and make it obedient to Christ (2 Corinthians 5:17) and seeing how those thoughts line up with the truth of Scripture, which leads to life transformation (Romans 12:2).

DIY EVENTS

DIY Event & Study Options

As an Executive Director of a women's conference and former women's ministry co-chair, Elisa understands the limitation of a budget and desire to serve women with Gospel hope. So if bringing Elisa to your event is co-prohibitive, here are some following options for bringing this message.

PRAY & PLAN

If you desire to put on a Meet the New You event, start with seeking God. Use the "Brainstorm" worksheet to get all your ideas on paper. Then begin exploring these options for how to do-it-yourself without having Elisa as a speaker:

OPTION 1: Make it Your Ministry Theme at Church

If you'd like to share the message of Meet the New You with the women in your church, how about using it as a ministry theme? It can set the stage for the kick-off event, especially with the colors and flower theme. It can also be used as the first Bible study of the season or as a filler between studies. Download the FREE Leader's Guide, which offers a 6-week and 12-week format. If you make this your ministry theme, drop Elisa an email at elisa@elisapulliam.com and put "MNY Ministry Theme" in the subject line. She'll send you graphics you can use for your print and web materials and also offer a free 60-minute Skype session with your ministry team. She'll also be willing to ship you the Starting Point postcards, if you're willing to cover printing and shipping expenses.

OPTION 2: Testimony & Outreach

What about hosting an evening coffee house or Saturday brunch, focused around the the theme of transformation? Wouldn't this be a great January event and an honest way to celebrate the New Year? You could even use it as an outreach, inviting attendees to join in Bible study or a book club to follow. The testimonies can be shared by women who have already read Meet the New You — such as as a women's ministry team. If you chose to embrace this option, drop Elisa an email at elisa@elisapulliam.com and put "MNY Outreach Event" in the subject line. She'll send you graphics you can use for your print and web materials and also offer a free 60-minute Skype session with your event coordinator and her team.

OPTION 3: Simple & Small

If you desire to share the message of Meet the New You with others, how about hosting a book club or a girl's weekend and reading through it together? You can use the Leader's Guide for structuring your time and pulling out great discussion questions. If you chose to embrace this option, email Elisa at elisa@elisapulliam.com and put "MNY Simply & Small" in the subject line. She'll send you graphics you can use for invitations. Plus you can request 25% off any life coaching services for you and your attendees, as long as they can provide a receipt for Meet the New You or a photo with the book.
